RIOTERS SUPPRESSED.

Ex-Priest Slattery Narrowly Escapes the Fury of a Mob.

MILITIAMEN PREVENT BLOODSHED

Mobs Surround the Lecture Hall and Break in the Windows-Dispersed at the Point of the Bayonet-Savannah's Determined Mayor Acted Promptly.

SAVANNAH, Feb. 27.-Last night was the most exciting night in the history of Sa vanuab. For five hours the city trembled on the verge of religious riots. The entire white military force of the city except the actiliory has been on duty. There are ten infantry companies and the Georgia Hussars, the latter being dismounted. A mob of from 3.000 to 5.000, the greater part befug Catholics, challenged their forbearance to the extreme. But for the coolness of Mayor Herman Myers and the officers commanding the troops blood might have been the result. Bayonet charges were made several times to clear the streets, but the mob which had gathered about Masonic Temple, one of the principal buildings of the city and situated in the heart of Savannah, stubbornly refused to

For three days it had been apparent that grave trouble was browing. The city had been liberally blacarded with notices that ex-Priest Stattery and his wife, described as an ex-nun, would lecture here on Catholicism. Members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at once took steps to prevent their appearance here. Petitions were circulated asking Mayor Myers to refuse to permit the ex-priest to hold his lecture. The petition said that if Slattery was allowed to speak there would be disorder and riot. About 500 signed the pe-

When the perition was presented to the mayor by a committee of twelve Carholies, including the presidents of two divisions of the A. O. H., he handed them a written opinion from the corporation attorney to the effect that he, as mayor, bud no power to abridge the right of tree speech guaranteed by the con-titution of the United States and Georgia. In his opinion the city attorney said that there could be no disorder or trouble if those who would be offended by Slattery's remarks would stay away from his becure. He are dail to do so. Mayor Myer's also asked the committee to advise all Catholics to k sep away from the lecture.

"I cannot stop this man from lecturing." said the mayor, who is a H-brew, "but I can prevent disorder and I will do so. If the p dice are not sufficient force to do so the military will be appealed to Riot will not be tolerared."

The committee stated that it was their desire to avoid trouble, and that they would use the le influence in that direction. They did so, but the ineffection of rightfulled All day yest rday a had been removed that probs we allow of non-different sections of the copy and the polarity would Yes at that he was to put the garbed a passer in the course of his locure spread by wildfree and rais d an Intense field a oracle Catholics Mover Myers issued instructions to Clate MeDermott to have the early available police force on hard at Masonic Temple Fifteen policimen warr-stationed mails the half, and thirty others were massed in front.

By 7 o'clock sevial hundred had collected. When southery arrived the mobhad not assumed large enough proportions to cope with the police. By So'clock a howling to be of over fifteen hundred surrounded Masonic Temple. In the hall were an audience of about four hundred, including a number of ladies. The lecturer had hardly began before bracks and cobblestones began to rain on the windows. The police had closed all the heavy inside shutters, thus saving the audience from injury, only two or three being injured by flying glass. The rest of the pohee force was called out and fifty officers were soon in trout of the hall.

The mob made rushes to secure an entrance, but were driven back time after time by the police. Before 9 o'clock the mob had grown to probably between three and four thousand people. Window after window in the Masonic Temple was crashed. Cries of "Kill him," "Down with Slattery," "Death to the renegade," were heard. Chief McDermott summoned the mayor. The lecture closed at 9:30 o'clock. and it was apparent that it meant the loss of many lives for the lecturer and the audience to leave the hall.

Upstairs a number of members of secret organizations who had cheered Slattery's declaration that he belonged to them had gathered around the ex-priest to defend him as they left the hall. A number, it was evident, had come armed in anticlpation of such trouble. As the ex-priest was about to leave the hall with his friends, the chief of police stopped them and refused to allow any one to go down stairs. Outside Mayor Myers and Colonel William Garrard were in consultation. The mob hissed at the police and hooted at their orders to disperse. The military glarm was sent in, but when it sounded the mob deried it. "Bring on your military," some of the leaders shouted. "To h-l with them, they cannot save Slat-terv." Very soon there were eleven companies in front of the hall, with fixed bayonets and rifles loaded with ball and cartridges. By order of the mayor the guards formed in two single lines and charged the mob with fixed bayonets in hope of breaking it. The mob was shoved back slowly, but refused to break, and occasional rocks were thrown at the hall. The mob was sullen and defiant, and apparently determined.

The military were then deployed so as to drive the mob back and form a hollow square about the hall. Then Captain J. H. Dillon, one of the most prominent Catholies of the city, brought Viear General Cafferty to the scene of the trouble The vicar general addressed a portion of the mob, saying they were bringing disgrace upon their religion and pleading with them to disperse and go home and not render it necessary to shed blood. A few of those he addressed shook the vicar general by the hand and left, but the majority of them stood still. Major Mildrim and others urged the mob to disperse, but to no purpose. With a double line of soldiers a block was formed, and while the rest of the military kept the crowd back, nearly all of the audience passed out of the hall amid hisses.

Four companies of soldiers were then banked about the door of the hall with the police, and Slattery was brought down As he came our with eight policemen and the mayor there was a howlfrom the mob, but the other military charged bayonets and pushed it back in all directions. Slattory was placed in the center of the military and, headed by a detachment of mounted police and with foot police on the sides, the four companies of infantry, amid hisses and jeers, marched to the Pu laski House, followed by hundreds. Slat tery was so buried in the midst of the mil itary that the mob could not see him. Word had gone among them that any assault would be promptly met with bullets At the hotel a mob of five or six hundred had gathered. The military made a solic mass in front of the entrance, presented bayonets, and Slattery walked in unin

A large detachment of police was left at the hotel to guard him over night. At the hall the other seven companies remained as a guard to Mrs. Slattery and to prevent further damage to property. Finding that Slattery had gone the moblargely dwindled away. Mrs. Slattery was placed in a carriage later in the night and, with a strong force of police, taken to the hotel.

During the excitement several policemen were injured so badly that they had to be sent home. Several of the military were wounded by being struck by rocks. Slattery's manager was knocked senseless with a sandbag.

Mrs. Slattery is booked for a lecture to women this afternoon and Slattery for a lecture to men tonight. Threats are made that they will be driven from the city.

Trying to Destroy Evidence.

LONDON, Peb. 27 -The Telegraph has a two column dispatch from a reporter who was sent by it to investigate the Armenian outrages. It is dated Moosh, Jan. 23. The dispatch tells of the attempts on the part of the Turks to destroy the proofs of the outrages, and especially to obliterate the telltale pit dug behind the residence of Village, chief of Djellyegoozen, in which hundreds of mutilated bodies were piled. Barrels of petroleum that were originally intended to be used in burning villages were poured into the pit and set on fire. The flames failed to consume the mass and a hill stream was then damned and diverted from its course, but even this failed to wash away the horrible evidence. Now the remains are being removed piecemeal. The details of this massacre, in which, after promising imperial protection, the Turks escorted the Armenians from the camp before slaying them, are sickening and most fiendish.

TWENTY-ONE PERSONS INDICTED.

In One Ward the Candidate for Proscuting Attorney Received Five Hundred More Votes Than There Were Voters-Many of the Election Crooks Leaving the City.

Kansas City. Mo., Feb. 27.—Twenty-one indictments for election frauds perpetrated during the fall election were yesterday returned by the special grand jury, which since late in January has been investigating charges of corruption made during the past few montus. Of the offenders Justice of the Peace Owen W. Kruger, against whom there are two indictments, is the most important and best known. He is charged with being an accomplies in ballot box stuffing.

The report was not accompanied by any communication, and Judge Wolford, of the criminal court, after ramining the indictments gave an order that no in-formation relating to the indictments should be given out until the offenders have been arrested, and sent the grand jury back to continue its work. The haste with which election thieves have been leaving town accounts for Judge Wolford's order. It is known, however, that several of the persons indicted are men who have been arrested and are out on

During the day Edward Findley, a local boss, and Arthur Moses, alias Morrison, surrendered and gave bond. IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

The Upper Body Votes to Continue the Payment of Sugar Bounties.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The senate has given another day to the sundry civil appropriation bill warhout completing it and without taking up the vital points con-cerning financial legislation. The important feature of the day was a short. sharp and decisive contest on the sugar bounty question, resulting in the success of those advocating the payment of the bounty prematurely cut off by the enactment of the tariff law. The proposed bounty aggregates $5.24,000, as stated in the amendments adopted, but Mr. Mitchell gave it as his belief that it would reach $5,000,000. A point of order was raised against the amendment, but the senate voted it in order, 46 to 13.

After this vote the success of the bounty proposition was assured, although efforts were made to load it down with free silver amendments and other propositions. In the course of the debate Mr. Gorman warned the senate that this bounty proposition would add to existing deficiencies, which, he said, would reach $60,000,000 for the present year. The final votes on the bounty proposition showed the friends of the amendment very strong and they carried the amendment easily.

Mr. Frye (Me.) succeeded in carrying an important amendment providing for a retired list for the revenue marine service, in order to retire many aged officers who have done good service and who now stand in the way of promotion.

When the senate reconvened in evening session an agreement was made by which the roll was called, and as each senator's name was resched he had the privilege to name the bill to be considered. A number of bills were passed, and at 11:20 p. m. the senate adjourned.

The house adopted a special order under which yesterday until 3:3) was given to the committee on labor, and today is given to the committee on public buildings and grounds. Most of the time yesterday was occupied in the consideration and passage of the bill providing for a board of concillation and arbitration (in case conciliation failed) to mediate and sattle differences between common carriers and their employes. A bill was also passed to provide for the publication of the bulletins of the department of Jabor, and also one to aid the Baltimore exposition to be held in 1837.

It provides against music in saloons, and a saloon cannot be run in connection with any other business-a direct blow at the restaurant with bar attachment. It also does away with screens, and all saloons must be operated on the first floor—a provision to knock out wine rooms. The bill will have trouble in passing the senate.

SILVERITES AT WORK.

Congressmen Working Up a Plan to Unite the Silver Forces

AGAINST THE SINGLE STANDARD.

They May Issue an Address to Democrats Warning Them Against the Election of Gold Men as Delegates to the Next National Convention of the Party.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Routine matters on the floor of the house are overshadowed in interest by the initiation of a brisk movement to seenre a majority of the Democratic membership in favor of a financial policy having the free coinage of silver for its keynote. For some time there has been a discussion carried on by the free silver leaders of the party over the practicability of a plan to unite their forces and to crystall, se their ideas into some sort of a platform or declaration. The net result of these deliberations has been the draft of a declaration addressed "To the Democrats of the United States," and outlining a financial policy for the Democratic party. This paper has been circulated on the Democratic side of the house, and is being vigorously discussed, with the object of obtaining the consensus of opinion of silver Democrats upon its expressions. The chief instigators of the movement are Messrs. Bland of Missouri, Bryan of Nebraska, Sibley of Pennsylvania and Coffeen of Wyoming. Their paper is at present but a tentative expression, they say, and not yet in form for publication, since none of its details has been definitely agreed upon. In substance it states the financial policy of the party to be for the free coinage of gold and silver on terms of equality, at the ratio of 16 to 1, for the issue of all paper money by the government without the intervention of banks, and opposition to any issue of interest bearing bonds without the authority of a special act of congress.

Attention is called to a movement said to be under way through the efforts of the opponents of free silver in the party to secure the election of gold men as delegates to party conventions, and particularly to the next national convention for the nomination of a single gold standard man for the presidency. Democrats are urged to oppose the movement and to see to it that none but free silver men are elected to positions of influence in the party and to represent them in all conventions. If the support of a majority of the party in congress can be pledged to a financial platform it is intended to issue the manifesto to the Democrats of the United States within a few days. At present the declaration is in but a formative stage, Mr. Bryan says, and it is intended to secure the views of members and make such changes in it as the majority of them may dictate. There is a possibility that they may not be able to agree upon any form of address, because considerable diversity of opinion has developed apon the details of

But few eastern members have been approached, and the Populists are entirely gnored, with the expectation that they will come into the Democratic party if it declares for free silver. How far this canvass has been inspired by the meeting of the executive committee of the bimetallic league it is impossible to say, for, while the prime movers say that their plan is entirely independent of the league, it is noticed that they are men who have been admitted to the councils of that body during its session.

Representative Davis, of Kansas, who is a prominent Populist, says that the more conservative third party man could accept a platform for a national currency of gold, silver and greenbacks, with the single additional plank of government control of public works.

Most of the Democrats who have been presented with the first draft of the manifesto are more or less reluctant to discuss the movement, because secrecy has been ment shall have been comented. Mr. Bryan also made an incomplete canruss of the silver Democrats in the senate. He did not present any prepared declaration, such as he thought it would be wise to make, but merely submitted to them the question of the advisability of such as movement, and signested among orbits. things that a joint in a mag or the silver Democrats in chatwo houses he held hefore adjournment for the consideration of the mancer. It is anaerstood that which many of the Democratic senators expressed interest in the question, and stated that is struck them layorably upon first thought, they should profer to have time to think it over in all it's bearings before in divion-

ONE DISFASE THAT BAFFLES THE PHYSICIAN.

The Story of a Woman who Suffered for Nine Years. How she was tured. From the Newark, N J, Evening News.

A WOMAN'S HEART.

On the summit of a pretty little knoll in the heart of the village of Clifton, N. J., stands a handsome residence about which cluster the elements of what is regarded by the country people round about as little short of a miracle, The house is occupied by the family of Mr. Geo. Archer, a former attache of the pclice department of New York Ciry, but who now holds a responsible position with the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Archer's family consists of his wife, a protty eprightly little woman, who presents a picture of health, and a son, twenty-seven years of age. No one would suppose to BESIDENCE took at Mrs. Acner now that she was for nearly nine years, and less than two months ago, an invalid so debilitated that life was a burden. Yet look at Mrs. Acner now that she was such was the case, according to the statements made by Mrs. Archer and her relatives to a reporter who visited their pretty home recently.

In 1885 she strained herself in running to catch a boat. Then ensued a long spell of illness, resulting from the tax upon her strength. Doctor after doctor was consulted and while all agreed that the patient was suffering from a valvular trouble of the heart, none could afford her the slightest relief.

"Oh, the agony I have suffered." said Mrs. Archer, in speaking of her

"I could not walk across the floor; neither could I go up stairs without stopping to let the pain in my chest and left arm cease. I felt an awful constriction about my arm and chest as though I were tied with ropes. Then there was a terrible noise at my right ear, like the labored breathing of some great animal. I have often turned expecting to see some creature at my side. The only relief I obtained was when I visited Florida and spent several months there. On my return, however, the pains came back with renewed force.

"Last July," continued Mrs. Archer, "I was at Springfield, Mass. visiting and my mother showed me an account in the Sprigfield Examiner, telling of the wouderful cures effected by the use of Pink Pills for Pale People. My mother urged me to try the pills and on November 25th last I bought a bex and began taking them, and I have taken them ever since, except for a short interval. The first box did not seem to benefit me, but I persevered, ercouraged by the requests of my relatives. After beginning on the second box, to my wonder, the noise at my right ear ceased entirely. I kept right on and the distress that I used to feel in my chest and arm gradually disappeared. The blood has returned to my face, lips and ears, which were entirely devold—of color, and I feel well and strong again.

"My son, too, had been troubled with gestritis and I induced him to try the Pink Pills, with great tenefit. I feel that everybody ought to know of my wonderful cure and I bless God that I have found something that has given me this great relief."

Mr. Archer confirmed his wife's statement and said that a year ago Mrs. Archer could not walk one hundred feet without sitting down to

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is usuaally understood, but are a scientific preparation successfully used in general practice for many years before being offered to the public generally. They contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism nervous headache, the after affects of the grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale or isallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold in bulk or by the dozen or hun-

ALL MOUNTAINS WILL VANISH IN THE COURSE OF TIME.

Notable Elevations That Are Slowly Crumbling and Becoming Smaller-Awful Catastrople That Befell the Village of Elm. Process of Change.

A French professor told the recent scientific corgress in Rome that "all mountains will vanish off the face of the earth in course of time." We do not doubt it, for it is divinely forefold that the earth itself will disappear at the end c' time. However, the Frenchman's crophecy is already in course of realization. The Ardennes, the Pyrenees and the mountains of Provence are going to peices by degrees in our own age. The mighty Himalayas, as it weary of "rearmg their forms sublime" through so many generations, nodded their heads in one place two years ago and hurled into the valleys below a mass of debris which was estimated at $00,000,000 tons. The largest locomotive on the fast trains of the Hudson River railway weighs only 62 tons. That Asiatic mountain slide, therefore, caused an avalanche equivalent to the tumble of about 13,000,000 such locomotives off a bridge 10,000 feet high. Little wonder that "the noise was terrific" and that "the natives were frightened." Masses of rock were hurled a mile away, and "many blocks of delomitic limestone, weighing from 30 to 50 tons, were sent like cannon batts through the air."

In 1881, in the Alps, there was an immense hill fall, caused by its human undermining in order to obtain slate for school use. The mining began in 1868. In 1876 the Plattenberkoph split across its crown, and after progressive enlargements for years, which caused comment and forebodings, it fell in the year named. This catastrophe precipitated about 12,000,000 cubic yards of rock 1,475 feet downward into the valley. The debris ricochetted across the valley and rolled $25 feet up the opposite slope, where it was canted over sideways, and then poured like liquid over a horizontal plane of about 9,700,000 square feet and to a depth of from 35 to 70 feet.

One-half of the village of Elm was overwhelmed, and it was so swiftly cleft by the resistless mass that the line was sharply defined, and one house was cut in two. One hundred and fifteen people were buried. One home was left on the very verge, of which the doors were open, the fire burned, the table was set, the coffee was hot, but no living soul was left. The head of the household was saved, but his entire family, who were out looking at the mountain fall, were lost. The debris dammed up a river, for which a channel was blasted afresh. New soil was carried into the valley, and spread over the ruins where harvests now smile again, and the people go about their work as if there were no such thing as an avalanche in this humbling and crumbling

The process of change in earth levels in all lands is illustrated in your unpaved back yard or village street after beavy rains. Each tiny rivulet no larger than your little finger has its floods, its narrower limits where it runs in its square foot of burder soil, and is there by pinched sideways, its sudden shallowing and widening where the soil is softer, and the panic stricken ants or bedraggled beetles are caught in their miniature world and routed as men are on a larger scale. Ten feet square of back yard may illustrate the succession of events which make seas shallower and mountains lower. The surcharged warm cloud gets a chill as it caresses the head of some dignified peak, the sudden condensation upsets the shower out of the atmosphere's myriad cell buckets, and the torrent rushes down the breasts and limbs of the mountains so swiftly that the surprised soil catches the spirit of panic and forgets to obey gravitation until it finds itself at sea and almost out of sight of shore. That transfer of earth leaves the hills thinner and deposits that which makes the river or bay or sea somewhat less deep. People live in the lowlands near their grain and fruits, and these thrive on the alluvium washed down by torrents and flood. That theft of matter makes the mountains bareheaded and puts the valley under obligation to the storms which feed the crops with plant nutriment stolen from above. Like man, the harvests lift their eyes to the hills, whence their help comes. The mountains are being carried into the sea, and man demands tribute as they pass. The forces of nature and the elements in battle, like the gospel, are levelers. They bring down the mighty and lift up the lowly. One of these days the earth must be resurveyed. The aspirations of the hills will have been reduced; the depths of the rivers, bays and oceans will be less. Men who journey by water may return to the plans and proportions that best suited those who built the ark, and they may see that Noah know something about shipbuilding, notwithstanding our Americans, Auranias and Campanias. David may have had a thought of all this when he said, "The hills melted like wax at the presence of the Lord." Isaiah wrote, "The mountains flowed down at thy presence." Ezekiel said, "The mountain shall be thrown down, and the steep places shall fall.' If those Alpine dwellers at Elm read their Bibles, they must have thought of these passages after they recovered from their surprise. - Northwestern Christian Advocate.

Mr. Robert Lemon, the Democratic candidate for Assessor, is making a vicorous campaign. He is a man of good judgment and his business makes bim familiar with the values of properties. If elected he will prove himself a safe and conservative official.

The Port Jervis Union laments that the Republican party in that town is not organized and consequently can hardly hope for a victory this year. We suggest that a delegation of leading Republicans be sent to this ity to take lessons from Middietown's new Republican boss as to safe. how to run a political machine.

John L. Sullivan, who was knocked out of the prize ring and off the stage by rum, may engage in a fight against the liquor traffic. He is "dead broke" and is seriously considering a proposition from Col. Chandler, editor of a temperance organ, to sign the pledge and travel as a temperance advocate. John L. believes with Col. Chandler that there is "big money" in the scheme and that millions of people would pay well to see him in his new role.

Secretary Carlisle may not have made a very good sale of bonds, but according to the Evening Post, he has done much better than Secretary Sherman did in 1878, when he fortified the Treasury for the redemption of specie payments. He sold to foreign banker-, practically the same as those who have taken the Carlisle bonds. He sold his bonds at par and in less than two years they were quoted at 126, while Secretary Carlisle's bonds sold at 1041/2 and are now selling at 11914.

Mr. George O. Mead, a prominent business man of Walton, in a letter to the New York Tribune, calls attention to an abuse from which farmers and country merchants dealing with New York commission houses have long complained, -arbitrary and unjust deductions because of alleged breakage, bad quality or poor condition of the articles received and sold. Mr. Mead's grievance is that a commission man to whom he sent four crates of eggs in January deducted from each crate one and onehalf dozen eggs, six dozen in all, worth $150, because of alleged breakage. In the present month, from four crates, four and one-half dozen eggs, valued $1,31, were deducted because it was alleged that they were not fresh, although Mr. Mead says he is prepared to make affidavit that the eggs were strictly fresh. In the cases of farmers, upacrupulous commission men go even further and in making returns scale down prices on even the best quality of butter or other produce below any figures that can be found in the market reports, until the farmers have become so distrustful of sales on commission that they prefer to accept ruinously low prices from buyers in the country or from local dealers rather than to take their chances with the lottery of New York prices as manipulated by commission houses.

MYSTERIOUS TIDES.

THOSE OF THE LAKES THAT THE SKIPPERS CALL SWASHES.

They Rise Suddenly From Calm Water and Display Many Strange Caprices-An Old Lake Eric Skipper Talks Interestingly on the Subject.

"Tidal waves on the great lakes are not of uncommon occurrence," said an old Lake Erie skipper, "and although meteorological experts have for more than 100 years tried to study out their cause we don't know any more about it now than they did at the time the great wave rose suddenly on Lake Eric, off Rockport, and destroyed Colonel Bradstreet's fleet, in October, 1764. That was the first tidal wave on the lakes that we have any record of.

"I have seen many of these swashes, as we call them on the lakes, the last one about ten years ago, when my schooner was swept high and dry at Port Stanley by a wave that seemed to rise on the lake like some monster marine animal coming from the depths to the surface. We could see it rushing toward us a mile away. It came with a boiling front ten feet high, hissing like loud escaping steam as it swept toward us. That is a peculiar thing about the lake tidal waves. They do not come with a roar, like the ocean surf, but with a loud, hissing sound, and there is only one instance on record where they are either accompanied or followed by strong winds.

"That one instance was at Toledo, in December, 1856, when the wind, which had been blowing stiff offshore, suddenly whirled into a howling nor'easter, and as quick as the change in the wind that wave leaped out of the lake and came hurling upon the shore, a wild and augry mass, eight feet high. In every other recorded occurrence of these mysterious freaks of the lake waters the surface of the lake has been perfectly calm and the air scarcely perceptible.

"Such was the condition when that big wave attacked us at Port Stanley, swamping my schooner and drowning one of my men. The wave receded as fast as it had rushed in, and the lake, in less than ten minutes, was as smooth as a mirror.

"Within the next hour there were four more swashes, each one of less force and volume, until the last was scarcely more than a ripple.

"Almost the first thing I remember. for I was but three years old at the time, was one of these tidal waves. It appeared early in the spring on the Canada shore, off Otter Creek. There was a piece of woods there then, with a long stretch of beach between it and the lake. My father had a 35 ton schooner lying off the shore half a nule or more. The water was a dead calm, when, without warning of any kind, a wave lifted itself from the bosom of the lake, probably 11, miles out, and swept shoreward with its mighty his- My mother and I were with father on his schooner. As that swash came rushing upon us it seemed to me as if the leaping feam of its white crest was higher than the schooner's masts, but I know new that it was not more than 12 feet high. The wave was high enough and strong enough, though, to sweep the schooner ashore as if it had been a cockleshell. and across that stretch of beach into the woods, where it was left among the trees, a hopeless wreck.

"In ten minutes the lake was as calm as ever, but an hour later a similar wave appeared at Kettle Creek, 20 miles from Ofter Creek, and tumbled all sorts of lake craft ashore.

"I guess the greatest tidal wave ever seen on any or the lakes was the one Dr. Foster and his party of voyagers saw on Lake Superior, between Copper harbor and Eaglo river. That was in August, 1845 This swash was more than 20 fect high, and, like all of its kind, sprung suddenly from the lake at dead calm. It was a quarter of a mile distant from Dr. Foster's boat, which, when the disturbance began, was directly in the path of the wave. It was crested with foam, and curled over like a mighty ocean surge. Before reaching the boat, however, the wave turned so that its nearest extremity swept past it at a distance of 50 feet, the water between that extremity and the boat being searcely infiled by the influence of the rushing tide.

"The wave was only half a mile from shore, but notwithstanding its great size and velocity it never reached there. The same my sterious caprice that caused it to change its course and pass harmlessly by the vessel seemed to seize it once more, and it sank rapidly from its great height as it approached the shore and struck the beach with no more force or use of water than might have come from the wash of a passing vessel.

"Tremember a notable swash on Lake Michigan at the mouth of the Menomime. That one appeared in April, 1858, and rushed into the river with such tremendous force and volume that it upset the ferryboat on the Menominee. The recurrent oscillations of these swashes are usually of decreasing size and force, but this one on the Menominee wasn't that kind. The chb of this tide was just as sudden as its flow, but in a few minutes it was followed by unother wave much larger than the first one, and the cbb of the second swash was followed by a way-still larger than the s. cend

"That secred to satisfy the mood of the lake at November that day, and, with the zero in got the third wave, calarass ever or out d prevaded on 178 FOR LOT & between the comfiget to the companies and the receding of the Cardwell stead 20 minutes.

"Turged by the about the lake field was a first at the vanc entirely local in their inflocue. A swash, even of the connect force and height, may not a te t hore than a mile of lake front, the viver at either end of them being undisturbed beyond that distance. They always cone in from the open water "-New York Sun.

They don't want their friends to worry, and Don't know what to take for it, as they have been told time and again that heart disease was incurable. Such was the case of Mr. Silas Farley of Dyesville, Obio who writes June 19, 1894, as follows:

"I had heart disease for 23 years, my heart hurting me almost continually. The first 15 years I doctored all the time, trying several physicians and remedies, until my last doctor told me it was only a question of time as I could not be cured. I gradually grew worse, very weak, and completely discouraged, until I lived, propped half up in bed, because I couldn't lie down nor sit up. Thinking my time had come I told my family what I wanted done when I was gone. But on the first day of March on the recommendation of Mrs. Fannie Jones, of Anderson, Ind , I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart and wonderful to tell, in ten days I was working at light work and on March 19 commenced framing a barn, which is heavy work, and I hav'nt lost a day since. THE MOON'S CLIMATE.

Why Our Satellite Is Subject to Great Extremes of Heat and Cold.

In illustration of the important climatic effects of an atmosphere, I need to little more than cite the case of the moon. Our satellite is practically at the sue distance from the sun as the earth. and in its case also internal heat has no present effect on the temperature of its superficial portions. It would therefore seem that, so far as sun heat is concernth, the moon must be in much the same condition as the earth. But if we thence deduced the interence that the temperature conditions prevailing on our satellite bear any resemblance to the temperature conditions prevailing on the earth we should make a great mistake.

Observations of the moon's heat show that its surface is exposed to a tremendous range of temperature, extending to hundreds of degrees. It has been demonstrated that the temperature of the moon under the full glare of the sun rises to a point in excess of that of boiling water, while it is equally certain that when the sunbeams are withdrawn the temperature of the moon sinks to a point far below that with which any arctic explorer has made us acquainted. Here, then, is a globe fed just as we are, with sunbeams, and yet undergoing tremendons viers-itudes of climate, surpassing any changes endured by the earth.

The climatic difference between these two neighboring globes is certainly connected with the fact that the moon has very little atmosphere, even if it be not completely destitute thereof. Our atmosphere acts as a climatic regulator. It reduces the degree in which the intense fervor of the sun affects the earth, and it mingates the rigor of the cold to which the earth would be exposed when the suppenms are withdrawn. Such an ameliorating agent is absent from the moon, and hence arise those violent extremes of its climatic condition.

We thus see what potent factors the existence and the extent of an atmosphere become in determining the nature of the climate that a planet is to have. We do not know enough regarding the atmospheres of Mars, Venus and Mercury to be able to draw any certain conclusions with regard to their climates. But this we may at least affirm, that it seems quite possible for the different influences we have named to go a long way toward neutralizing the contrasts that the climates of these globes would otherwise present in consequence of the different supplies of sunbeams that they receive at their actual solar distances. So far as more climate is concerned, it seems quite possible that appropriate atmospheres and land distributions might be adjusted on the earth and Mars, Mercury and Venus in such a manner that certain organic types might be common to all the four globes.—Sir Robert Ballia Formightly Review.

BISMARCK CONSENTED.

He Was the First Arbiter of an English Love Match.

Aproposed the marriage of the third son of the Duke of Atu; Il it is related that when his affor from became attached to an untitled we man hearly bound to ask the old gent's man's consent. The duke answered that personally he had no objection to the match, but in view of the fact that his closer son had espoused a daughter of the quoon he thought it right to auquire ber majesty's pleasure on the subject before express-mg his formal approval. Her majesty, thus appealed to, observed that since the death of the prince consortshe had been in the babit of consulting the Duke of Saxe-Coburg on all family affairs.

The matter was therefore referred to Duke Ernest, who replied that since the unification of Germany he had made it a rule to ask the emperor's opinion on all important questions. The case now came before the kaiser, who decided that, as a constitutional sovereign, be was bound to ascertain the views of his prime minister.

Happily for the now anxious pair of lovers, the "Iron Chancellor," who was then in office, had no wish to consult anybody and decided that the marriage might take place. - Kate Field's Washington.

Rideous Animals In Death Valley.

Many, many years ago Montesquieu, the great French philosopher, emphasized the influence of climate upon human nature. The effect of nature itself upon animal life has been most strikingly revealed by Special Agent H. B. Martin of the United States land office, who has just returned from a perilous trip through the "Death valley" in Nevada. His report pictures this weird, unfinished spot of cleation as a region of horrors. Even the fauna are uncanny and in almost diabolical accord with the inferno nature of this vast realm of sand and salt.

That hideous and leath-ome reptile, the Gila monster, flourishes in this fit retreat. Lizards, rattlesnakes, huge scorpions and tarantulas and toads, all abnormally venomous, writhe and hop across the heated waste, but they are nothing in comparison to kangaroolike rats and mice that feed on scorpions. One of these curious inice is known as the grasshopper mouse, from his curious leaping, and his chief delicacy is a wriggling centined. The women might | For Plastering Walls and be exensed for jumping upon chairs if such kind of mice infested the households of the land.—Philadelphia Rec-

"I didn't order any." "I thought you did, sir."

"I ordered sauce. Can't you tell the difference between sauce and sausages?" "Yes, sir," said the waiter, gathering up the rejected dish with unruffled dignity. "Between sauce and sausages

there is merely a difference of ages.

"Indeed, I thought there was every cent of $10,000 in it.

He says that he finds the street at its narrowest point wide enough for four tracks; the conditions of construction are Zamorable, and he thinks it would be i a great mistale to decrease the carant part of the road.

THE BROWNIES AT MIDWAY.

Photographic Views of the Park With Pen and Ink Sketches by Harry Og-

George Shannon is framing a number of group pictures of Midway Park and the glen, prepared by Mr. H. C. Ogden for the Traction Com-

The photographs are not only well executed, but considerable artistic skill is shown in the arrangement of the several frames.

One frame, now on exhibition in Mr. Shannon's window, attracts much attention. In this, Mr. Ogden has done a large amount of pen and ink work that is very creditably executed. Besides the photographic views there are sketches of the cars arriving at the park in which the passengers and motormen are brownies; crowds of brownies are seen rushing to the Punch and Judy show; others filling the merry-go-round and raz zle-dazz'e, and others riding in the cars on the roller coaster,
